

AIMS
ENLIGHTENMENT

From the Editor

Asalam-o-Alikum!

Dear Parents and Students!

Writing is an exploration. You start from nothing and learn as you go. We cannot deny the importance of writing. Allah SWT also said in Surah Noon; verse no 1

“Noon. By the Pen and What They Inscribe”

Finally, AIMS Education System showcased some of its student's greatest skills in the form of E-Magazine. The objective of launching the magazine is to motivate our young writers to improve their writing skills and to become future scholars. Beginning with a very small step we initiated to assemble few creative writings including poetry, stories, jokes, riddles etc from the students. To add up here I would love to tell you that two of our talented students wrote books named “Nasty the Fox” by student of class 4 and “The Soul in the Winds” by class 8th student. They both played a motivational role for rest of the students. In this first issue, we hope you will find joy in the write-ups of our brilliant students and will appreciate their efforts. I invite all students of AIMS Education System to send their writings and to all parents to motivate their children to write something for our second issue of E-Magazine. I appreciate all students who put their effort and made this E-Magazine happen.

I hope you enjoy the new approach of motivating students to write, and would appreciate receiving your feedback. We have also added our E-Newsletter to keep you up-to-date on news and events at our school so that you can stay connected and involved. We would like to hear what you think about our student's magazine. Please email us at cocurricularcoordinator@gmail.com

The Prophet (S.A.W.W) and His Grandchildren

By: Sara Khan 6-A

Marjan Campus

One day there was a great gathering in the Prophet's (S.A.W.W) Masjid where Prophet (S.A.W.W) was telling the people about ALLAH and the wonderful ways of ALLAH. It was very quite inside the Masjid that people hardly moved as the Prophet (S.A.W.W) spoke to them. Then suddenly without warning, he stopped speaking and began to walk towards the door. People were surprised and puzzled where could Prophet (S.A.W.W) be going suddenly? It seemed strange, but it did not remain a mystery for long. When people in the crowd turned around and followed the Prophet (S.A.W.W) with their eyes, they saw two children smartly dressed in red shirts were walking towards the Masjid and as Prophet (S.A.W.W) had been speaking, he had seen them through the door. The Prophet (S.A.W.W) loved all children of course, but these were two very special children as far as he concerned.

They were his grandsons, Hassan (R.A) and Hussain (R.A), the sons of the beloved daughter of the Prophet (S.A.W.W), Fatima (R.A) and her husband Hazrat Ali (R.A), the fourth caliph.

Naturally, the Prophet (S.A.W.W) loved the two boys very much and they in return loved him. When children saw their beloved Grandfather; they grinned and started to run towards him with their arms stretched out to embrace him.

The Prophet (S.A.W.W) was delighted to see them and brought them back to Masjid and asked them to sit beside him. Then Prophet (S.A.W.W) resumed and crowd fell silent again as they listened to the words of ALLAH's great Messenger (S.A.W.W).

Naturally, Prophet (S.A.W.W) was a frequent visitor at the house of his daughter Fatimah (R.A). he loved to be with Hassan (R.A) and Hussain (R.A) but he became very distressed when he saw that either of the boys was unhappy or crying. When this happened, the Prophet (S.A.W.W) would call his daughter and tell her to leave whatever she would have been doing to attend the children. This was because the Prophet (S.A.W.W) thought that nothing could be so important that it should come before a child who needed comfort.

The Ability to Eat

By: Tooba Kayani 1-G

Marjan Campus

Last Friday (April 9, 2015) we had the opportunity to visit a sick brother in a hospital in East York, Canada. He had a pain in his stomach which caused it to explode. As a result, the doctors had to remove half of his stomach through an operation. For seven days he has been unable to eat or drink anything. Nutrients are being provided to him by specialized methods. During our visit we told him to be patient and pray to ALLAH for a quick recovery. At one point he made very important statement, he said, "Now I have understood that if ALLAH does not want, we cannot even being able to eat a grain of rice or drink something. It is a great blessing"

Friends and Betrayal

By: Husaffa kayani 8th-A

Marjan Campus

I guess you people would be confused and probably wonder what in the world am I referring to? But slow down folks, let me at last start.

"Now you cannot be trusted" this was said to me by:

A friend who referred me as a sister

A friend who claimed I told her more about her than even she knows about herself.

A friend who knew I would never betray.

A true sister

A friend who knew I had never given her wrong advice

Now I must say all the above options are true....

You know when such thing happened there is this weird sensation. You have a stinging pain in your heart, tears building in your eyes, broken heart, you cannot think straight and you feel sick. This is what happened when you trust people, when you care for people, when you keep giving without asking anything in return, but a mark on your trust worthiness and a sudden comprehensive assurance of your stupidity, even worse when you confront them in your heart of hearts.

I know what you might be thinking that in this life it happens all time what's the big deal; these things are natural but dear you are absolutely wrong. I, for once, refuse to believe that betrayal by friend is natural or there lies by friends are natural we have the entire other world for that. I guess it's difficult for you to understand when something like this has not happened to you, but I pray to ALLAH that it never does because believe it or not, it is painful.

I am not saying do not make friends or don't trust them because friendship is a very sacred relation, but just try to keep it confined to a few people who might have the change to ever hurt you.

This is all on my part. I hope I made my point clear.

Exam Fever!

By: Amna Baqi

Marjan Campus

We all know that we get so worked up when our exams are near, the phobia almost murders us. Here are some secrets to success. The truth of matter, gear friends that nobody accepts your own will to study and your own resolution to excel can able you to prepare well. Hence, before anything else, you need to be entirely convinced as to the importance of getting good grades. Many of you might consider exams and results of little importance in professional life as we do hear things like, the famous mystery writer 'Agatha Christie' was dyslexic and she did not do well at school so it might make you think that a bad grade in math now is not issue for you either. However, happy go lucky attitude will not get you anywhere.

Do you not think that we need to put our heart and soul in anything we do? Getting graded accordingly to a proper system would show us where we stand in life academically and trust me academics are important.

Now, that I have hopefully convinced you as to the significance of scoring well, I would tell you how to do that. Once you have set your mind to it, remember that nothing is impossible. All you need to do is develop and maintain your focus and work hard. Make sure that you have complete notes of all subjects a few months prior to the exams. You will then have to thoroughly go through your books and notes. A common phenomenon 'selective study' is highly discouraged. Make sure that you revise each and every subject and not leave some and hope that luck might take your side.

Optimism is good but there's something called realism existing as well. Devise a time table for your preparation and don't ever forget to stick to it. However do not overburden yourself and give yourself a few threats in the middle. Just on the morning of your examination, be confident. Be certain of your preparation, of your time management and skills and just relax. All you need on that morning is faith in yourself and in ALLAH. Last minute revision is ill advised. A few months you might feel your dear internet and beloved idiot box (T.V.), but believe me, in the long run, it will all pay off. Hope that you perform great in exams.

Once upon a time there was a girl named Sara. She liked yellow color so she always wore a yellow frock with sharp pointy stars on its belt. She loved to read books and karate which her brother taught her. One day, the family was on their way to Murree when they stopped at the midway for a break. As they were eating their snacks, Sara saw a beautiful doll little farther away. She went there to see but she was kidnapped by someone. When she woke up she was in a dark house tied with ropes. She was quite smart, she cut the ropes with the sharp pointing stars of her belt and kicked the man in front of him, and her kick was so hard that his tooth fell. She ran away. In the way she saw an old lady passing the road. But she was so old that she could not pass the road easily. Sara helped her passing the road and so old lady prayed her, "May you find your right path". Sara smiled and said 'Aameen'. After this, she turned and saw her parents standing on the other side of road trying to find Sara. She ran to them and hugged them. When, she turned back to thank the lady for her pray, she'd gone. Sara grinned and thanked ALLAH S.W.T.

This House is too Small

By: Khowla Salahuddin 5th-A

Marjan Campus

We are living in new house because our house is too small. It was not too small when I was a baby. Because then there were only three of us. One room was for mom and dad and one room was mine. It was not too small when my sister born because she came in my room with me but then my brother was born. He needed a bed soon. There was no place for one more bed that's why our house was too small.

A Naughty Boy

Sajid was a naughty boy. He took delight in beating and teasing others. His parents were worried about their son, but he did not care a bit. He teased everyone specially Mehmood. He was a lean and thin boy. He was calling him "blacky". One day Sajid and Mehmood went out to the forest to hunt birds. They were lost in the forest. They trembled with fear. In the forest barbarians caught both of them. They decided to sacrifice a one boy.

They chose Sajid because he was healthy. But Mehmood requested them to sacrifice him instead of Sajid. He was a soft hearted boy. Sajid was surprised to see this. At the same time Sajid woke up. It was only a dream. It had taught Sajid the lesson of his life never teased anyone again.

A giant wolf was almost dead with hunger when he happened to meet a house dog who was passing by. "Ah Cousin", said the dog. "I knew how it would be; your irregular life will soon be the ruin of you. Why do you not work steadily as I do and get your food regularly given to you?" "I would have no objection" said wolf "if I could only get a place." "I will easily arrange that for you" said the dog, "come with me to my master and you shall share my work." So the wolf and dog went towards the town together. On the way there the wolf noticed that the hair on a certain part of the dog's neck was very much worn away, so he asked him how that had come about, "oh! It is nothing", said the dog. "That is only the place where the collar is put on at night to keep me chained up; it chafes a bit but one soon gets used to it." "Is that all?" said the wolf. "Then good bye to you master dog. It is better starving free than is a fat slave."

The Light House

By: Maaz Khan 4 B

G-10 Al-Beruni Campus

Once upon a time in a very small house, mum, dad, brother and sister lived. The house was in a scary place that at night there were ghosts at their house. They were very scared. They decided to buy a new house they thought to go to a light house. At the next day they packed everything and went. When they reached the light house they were very happy when they saw the house. At bed time brother and sister were in one room and mum & dad in other. At night when they were sleeping the sharks were making sounds, airplanes were going; walls were knocking and all over there were ghosts. The brother woke up and waked sister up also, they went to mum's room and told mum everything. The light house was scarier than the old house. Mum and dad were very unhappy and said where we should go. The next day when they sleep that time nothing happened, then for since a week it didn't happen, after a month they said "it was just our first time."

Once there was a girl. Her name was Dania. She bought a new house. She lived there from 1282 till 1291. After a day, her friend Ayesha came to her home. Dania gave her water to drink. The next morning Ayesha said to her that she would stay at their home for three weeks. The girl asked, 'Why?' She said, "My father and mother have gone with my brothers to England for three weeks, so I will stay at your home." The girl said, "Ok." Dania and Ayesha ate the breakfast and went to school. There they read English, Math and Urdu. They eat their lunch and come back to their home. They did their homework and went to bed. When Dania slept, Ayesha quietly woke up and tore her homework pages. She went to sleep. The next day, Dania said to Ayesha to wake up. Ayesha woke up and took the breakfast. At school, Dania's teacher asked, "Who has done the homework?" Whole class said "I have done" "I have done." First her teacher checked Dania's homework. She said, "Dania! You were saying that you have done the homework. Where have you done your homework?" Dania's teacher gave her punishment for two hours. Dania stood out of the class with hands up and one foot. She was crying and thinking that she had done the homework but who had erased or torn the homework pages. After a few moments Ayesha said to her teacher, "may I go to washroom?" She come out and asked Dania why she had not done her homework? Dania said, "I had done my homework but someone has torn my homework pages.” Ayesha said, “Oh, Oh, Oh, poor Dania you have not done your homework, that’s why you are trying to tell me a lie. I am not unlike. I know who is telling a lie. Ayesha goes to washroom. Dania thought that might be Ayesha had torn the pages. She came back to her home and went to Ayesha’s home. There she saw that her mother and father were crying and saying, May Ayesha be safe from thieves. When she listen that, she was surprised. She went to her home and said to Ayesha to get out oh her house. “You are very big cheater.” She held her hand and took her to her home and told her parents that thieves had not taken Ayesha but she had come to her home and said that her mother and father had gone to England for three weeks. Her parents said to Ayesha that she had to do so much work, and go to her room. “We will now not give you any pocket money for three years but will give pocket money to Dania for six years. Then Ayesha did her homework. Dania tore her pages. The teacher gave her very hard punishment.

I was wondering in the garden of flowers

They were faded

The weather was a coal factory

The fruits were rotten

But still was wandering

Suddenly the clouds arrived there

The lightening in the sky

The cold breeze

The fluttering of flowers were then with such a charming weather

Is at beneath the tree

And enjoyed the blowing of the breeze

Destination, peace and contentment
Hum and dorn of insects
Wooded hillside, stately pines
Groves of silver-grey birch, purple heather in bloom
Rushing mountain stream, sparkling blue lake
Ruins of an old castle
Shrouded peak tops, pearly haze
Natural trail, explored hidden path
Enjoyable afternoon
The return journey

Pressure of Exams!

By: Samara Ghasshin 8th-A

Marjan Campus

Sound familiar? Then you're a normal student and if you don't get this then you are either really, really, really confident, stupid or possibly not from this universe (just saying). Pressure of exams, it gets to everyone. Exam week (or week for us) is one of the tensest full and stressful weeks for a student in his/her entire year. During exams or before exams you shouldn't say that “haey! Main tou gaya, mein tou fail he ho jana ha” but instead of this, say that “I can do it, I can beat the others and I can show them all.” it's all about I can, it's not about I can't. Life is full of depressions and exams is merely one of them because:

“Depression is like a war. You either win or die trying”

And I am very sure no one wants to die trying but instead, everyone wants to win. So get out there, study and pray seriously, pray. Another thing that I want to add is a saying of Bill Gates (ring a bell?)

“I failed my exam in some subjects but my friend passed, now he's an engineer in Microsoft and I am the owner”. This doesn't mean that if you also fail you will own a company. This is just because maybe Bill Gates was non-serious first but then he decided to study hard and now you can see him yourself, an inspiration to many. So what I am saying is try to win because “life is the most difficult exam many people fail because they try to copy others, not realizing that everyone has a different question paper” also keep this in mind. So good luck, study hard and show them all what you're capable of.

To reach the top you don't have to be book warm, just stay cool and give your best.

1. A man went to the doctor because he had been feeling very ill for days. The doctor gave him several sets of pills and instructed: “Take the green pill with two big glasses of water when you get up. An hour later take the white pill with another glass of water. Take the blue pill with a big glass of water after lunch. Mid afternoon take the orange pill with plenty of water, repeat that at dinner. Then just before going to bed, take the red pill with several big glasses of water.” The man was alarmed at the huge volume of medicine he had been given to take, and nervously asked, “What’s the diagnosis? What’s wrong with me?” the doctor said, “You are dehydrated”
2. One dark night, two men were walking home after a party and they decided to take a shortcut through the cemetery. Right in the middle of the cemetery, they were startled by a tap-tap-tapping noise coming from the misty shadows. Trembling with fear, they found an old man with hammer and chisel, chipping away at one of the headstones. “Hello Mister” one of them said after catching his breath, “You scared us half to death, we thought you were a ghost! What are you doing, working here so late at night?” “Those fools!” the old man grumbled. “They misspelled my name on the tombstone.”
3. Customer: “Waiter, there’s a dead beetle in my soup.” Waiter, “Yes sir, they are not very good swimmers”
